PREPARATION FOR ZWING PLAY NEARING COMPLETION AS LAST WEEK IS PASSING

Prof. and Mrs. Sheeder are Working Hard with the Cast to Stage
Unusual Performance Fri.

EXTENSIVE SALE OF TICKETS

With less than a week to complete preparations for "The Fool," spirit is running high and the culmination of four weeks of hard work promises a dramatic treat for Friday night. In many ways this is one of the biggest productions ever attempted at Ursinus. From a financial viewpoint, a large royalty has made it necessary to charge admission, and, although this is an innovation for anniversary plays, a rapid sale of tickets is reported. Thus the monetary success of the production is assured and, at the same time, the traditional anticlimax, or donation period between the third and fourth acts is eliminated. Tickets and reservations are in charge of Business Manager Paul Wisler and can be obtained from him as long as the seating capacity of Bomberger will warrant sales possible.

Prof. and Mrs. Franklin I. Sheeder have been working day and night to whip the more difficult scenes into shape, and their expert direction, well-known to Ursinus audiences, can be relied upon as a positive indication of merit in the final product. An extraordinarily large cast is responsible for the need of particularly thorough coaching, and each character is necessary to the working out of the plot, so the success of the presentation gives promise of assuming unusually fine proportions.

"The Fool" enjoyed long runs before Broadway and other audiences all over the country and comes to us in one of its first amateur appearances. It ranks among the best modern plays

WOMEN'S CLUB GIVES SUPPER

The Ursinus Woman's Club gave an oyster supper for the benefit of the Women's Dormitory on Saturday evening. Co-eds acted as waitresses and members of the Club acted as hostesses. The food was excellent and was a credit to the culinary efforts of the committee. The supper drew a large crowd despite the bad weather and was third in a series of events given for the benefit of the Dormitory Fund.

WOMEN'S AFF. DEBATERS DEFEAT LEBANON VALLEY

The second home appearance of the Women's affirmative debating team took place Tuesday evening in Bomberger Hall, when it met Lebanon Valley negative. That the United States should cancel the war debts owed her was upheld by Lois Nickel, Miriam Ehret, Ruth Eppheimer and Helen Ort as alternate. Basing its contentions on the moral and economic benefits at home and abroad, the team presented its case in an experienced manner. The negative team composed of Mary Buch, Anna Apgar, Esther Flickinger and Janet Miller, alternate, although quite inexperienced in forensics, argued in a determined fashion that the war debts are honest debts and must be paid. Miss Miller presented the first negative rebuttal speech, substituting for Miss Buch.

Mr. David Groshen, Norristown; Mr. H. B. Danehower, Philadelphia, and the Rev. W. O. Fegely, D. D., Trappe, acting as judges, rendered a unanimous decision in favor of the affirmative.

Mr. Ralph Heiges, '25, an instructor in the Royersford High School, presided.

WAYNESBURG AND TEMPLE DOWN URSINUS AFFIRMATIVE ON ALLIED DEBTS QUESTION

Ursinus Substitutes Argue Well But the Experienced Teams Win
the Judges' Decision

NEG. WINS BY TEMPLE DEFAULT

On Wednesday, March 23, the Ursinus Men's Affirmative Debating Team met and was defeated by the Temple University Negative team in Bomberger Hall. Dean Kline presided.

The size of the audience did not do justice to the high type of argumentation that was evident throughout the evening. The Ursinus team, although composed of substitutes, put up a real fight and it was only in the closing minutes of the rebuttal speeches that the Temple speakers scored the deciding points which gave them the victory.

One of the most able debaters who has appeared in Bomberger this year, in the person of Mr. Joseph Lerner of Temple University, pleased the audience immensely with his direct and convincing manner of delivery and with his keen analysis and smashing rebuttal of his opponents' arguments. The other members of the Temple team were William Allen, William Litke, and Max Spindel, alternate.

For Ursinus, the best speaker was Charles Keller. His well-modulated voice and impassionate presentation of the moral side of the question won the approval of everyone present. Paul Lefever, the second substitute, showed

CHARLES ENGLE CHOSEN AS EDITOR-IN-CHIEF OF THE WEEKLY FOR COMING YEAR

Miss Stibitz, Johnson, Snyder, and Barr Will Serve as Associate
Editors on Weekly Staff

NINE REPORTERS SELECTED

At a meeting of the Board of Control of The Ursinus Weekly held at the home of President George L. Omwake, on Thursday evening, Charles H. Engle '28 was elected to hold the office of Editor in Chief of the Weekly for the ensuing year.

Engle has faithfully served on the editorial staff of the Weekly during the past two years, this year having held a position as one of the associate editors, along with Miss Cora Gulick '28 and Harold Wiand '28.

The other elections made by the Board's recent action are: Alumni editor, Cora Gulick; associate editors, Malcolm Barr, '29, Richard Snyder '29, Robert Johnson '29 and Mildred Stibitz '28; athletic editors, Nelson Bortz '30 and Alice Fetzters '28; special feature writers: Mary Oberlin '29, Ruth Moyer '28, Charles Fitzkee '28 and Helen Reber '29; reporters: Virginia Kressler '29, Charles Keller '29, Paul Le Fever '30, Calvin Yost '30, Henry Alden '30, Clarence Ergood '30, Evelyn Cook '30, Miriam Peters '30 and Sally Shaffo '30.

The newly elected staff will take over the publication of the Weekly on April 25, the first issue after the Easter recess.

WOMEN'S NEG. WILL MEET N. Y. UNIVERSITY THURSDAY Last Home Debate of Neg. Team

The last home debate of this season for the Women's Negative debating team will be held on Thursday evening, March 31, in the Sunday School room of the Hendricks Memorial Building. The opponents to be met are the Affirmative women of New York University, N. Y., and whether they are to be defeated or not depends largely on the student body of Ursinus College. Thus far, this year, the Women's debating teams have had an exceptional career and have helped to establish an enviable forensic reputation for Ursinus to the extent that one college paper has characterized an Ursinus team as "one of the strongest teams in the state." This is the last home debate of a team which has elicited for you such a distinction—are you going to support it? Applause is just as necessary for the success of this scholastic activity as it is essential for the winning of a football game. The debate will begin at 8 o'clock and there will be no charge whatsoever; the expense will be cared for by the club's funds. Even though the debating season has been somewhat lengthy, show your interest now by your presence and encouragement when your team meets its strongest opponent, a team from a well-recognized school of dramatic and oratorical expression, New York University.

RHEA DURYEA SPEAKS ON WOMEN'S VOCATIONS

On Monday afternoon Dr. White and the Women's Student Council gave a tea in honor of Miss Rhea Duryea. Miss Duryea is one of our most active alumnae, now serving as Vice-President of the Ursinus Alumni Association.

The Senior girls met Miss Duryea informally at the tea, and found her an interesting type of successful business woman.

At a mass meeting of the Women's Self-Government Association she addressed the girls more formally concerning her work.

MODERN DRAMA DISCUSSED AT ENGLISH CLUB, MONDAY

Modern dramatists formed the subject of discussion at the English Club meeting Monday evening. The two considered were Lord Dunsany and Eugene O'Neill, who are two opposite types of writers.

A paper on Lord Dunsany was read by Isabel Johnson '27, in which she described him as a writer who is extremely romantic in the style and form of his works and one who preserves something of the attitude of ancient writers toward his subject matter. His life has been that of an Irish lord and a lover of outdoor sports as well as that of a playwright.

Evelyn Lesser, '27, discussed Eugene O'Neill who is also of Irish extraction but of American birth. His work is extremely realistic often running to scenes that typify the lowest forms of life. His plays are very powerful and show a great deal of genius.

Following the papers, Dr. Smith spoke of the future of the drama as opposed to the moving picture, especially now that the latter is being aided by a reproduction of the human voice and music.

COEDS BOW TO TEMPLE IN CLOSING COURT CONTEST AT PHILA. ON THURSDAY

Temple Takes an Early Lead But Ursinus Lassies Rally to Make the Final Count, 32-25.

CAPTAIN JOHNSON PLAYS WELL

The Ursinus coeds who visited Philadelphia were unable to overcome an early lead taken by the Temple team, but rallied in the second half to make the final score Temple 32-Ursinus 25.

The Temple team maintained the edge on their rivals all during the game and never once permitted them to lead in scoring. The local team played a hard game, but was overwhelmed by the speed of their opponents.

Captain Johnson played a splendid guarding game and gave the opposing forward little chance to get in a scoring position. Sally McGarvey was again high scorer for Ursinus, making five goals and three foul goals, a total of thirteen points. Alderfer was a close second scoring three field goals and four markers from the foul line, a total of 10 points.

The start of the game found the Ursinus co-eds unprepared for Temple's passing attack and the first quarter ended with Temple making nine points and holding Ursinus scoreless.

In the second quarter the Ursinus forwards got free for two field goals and one foul goal, making the score Temple 16-Ursinus 5 as the half ended.

During the third quarter the Ursinus team played a fast passing game, allowing McGarvey to score two

FALL ENROLLMENT FOR 1927 EXCEEDS PREVIOUS YEARS

The enrollment of new students for the coming year is growing daily. To date there are ninety students definitely enrolled, as compared with sixty for the same date last year. This would indicate that the College can count on an incoming class of over two hundred students, if accommodations can be found for that number. The two new dormitories for men will take care of a large part of the increased enrollment of new students, and some of the students now housed in the town can thus be housed on the campus.

Alumni and others who are counting on sending students to Ursinus next year should arrange for their accommodation at once.

KEEN COMPETITION WILL ATTEND SELECTION OF BASE- BALL TEAM FOR FIRST GAME

Moundsman Will Determine the Outcome of the Initial Encounter
With Drexel Saturday

VETERANS FORM NUCLEUS

With only two weeks' practice tucked under their belts and the initial contest of the season less than a week off the Bears are being sent through their paces in a brisk manner by Coach Kichline.

No regular team has been selected at yet and several berths are being hotly contested with the outcome still in doubt. It is probable however that Coach Kichline will start as many seasoned men as possible when the Bears line up against Drexel on Saturday afternoon.

From the material on the squad little difficulty should be experienced in moulding together a classy infield and outfield. The pitching staff is the unknown factor to date and since none of the hurlers are veterans, with the exception of Mink, sophomore twirler, who pitched in several games last year, Coach Kichline has to groom several of the freshmen twirlers to bear the burden of the mound duty. The success or failure of the current campaign will depend to a great extent on "uncovering" some rookie who will blossom forth in a "Class A" hurler. Among the freshmen mound toilers there are no prominent figures to choose from. Karpinnen, at the present writing, looms up as the best but the cold weather has retarded their progress and all are more or less of "dark horses." Place, Strine, Cain, and Riordan complete the pitching corps.

Among the backstoppers George Erb and "Mick" Carl are the seasoned receivers while W. Francis and Cherin

PLANS UNDER WAY FOR 1927 SUMMER ASSEMBLY

A program of exceptional merit is being arranged for the Collegeville Summer Assembly of 1927. President Omwake is chairman, and he is ably assisted by an advisory board consisting of representatives of the leading Protestant denominations. The dates of this year's Assembly are August 8-14.

Among the speakers already engaged are the Rev. A. D. Belden, minister of the Crowstone Congregational Church, Westcliffe, Essex, England; the Rev. Archibald Christholm, D. Litt., pastor of the Langside Hill United Free Church of Glasgow, Scotland; and the Rev. James I. Vance, D. D., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Nashville, Tennessee. All of these men are very prominent in the work of the Church, speaking every Sunday to crowded churches in their own parishes and performing a world-wide ministry of human helpfulness through their books and lectures.

The purpose of the Collegeville Assembly is to provide for the ministers and other Christian workers of all denomination a week of thought-provoking and faith-confirming personal messages from recognized leaders among contemporary preachers. The program is provided through gifts of benefactors and the building and grounds are provided free of charge by the Directors of Ursinus.

PROF. MUNSON VISITS COLLEGE

Raymond Burton Munson, professor of History and Political Sciences at Ursinus 1914-24, has been a visitor in Collegeville during the past few days.

Prof. Munson is now a member of the faculty of the Packer Collegiate Institute of Brooklyn, N. Y., where is head of the History department.

COLLEGE TRADITIONS

With the progress being made on the two new men's dormitory buildings, Ursinus students are already manifesting a keen interest in this new step toward a "Greater Ursinus."

Daily groups of students can be seen watching the progress of this new adventure. Like a mother caring for the growth of her children, so Ursinus undergraduates are daily rejoicing in the gradual development of these buildings. Many have, without a doubt, visualized them in their completed form and are witnessing their change with the greatest regard and satisfaction.

The new dormitories when completed will be void of all traditions and the memories which these buildings will hold in years to come will be indicative of the present generation of Ursinus students. Therefore, these new dormitories hold inestimable possibilities as a means of educating taste. The history of these beautiful structures will be symbolic of the life attributed to them when young and thus any ideas or contributions to this vital part of the life of the campus should be fostered and nurtured with the utmost care.

Similar to that of a human being they will have their intimate side and place in the thought and feeling on the campus where individual and college sentiment overlap. For all their wide-spreading and far reaching radiation they will be to us sacred. Considered as practical forces, their history will naturally be allied with traditions and ideals, and as such forces they cannot be too intelligently respected.

No cause ever served more to unite a group of people than sentiment. Students of the present day select certain halls as their preference because of the traditions which they embody. The sentiments connected with the present buildings on the campus are symbolical of Ursinus life in the past. And since college students are as a group fundamentally and traditionally sentimental, it can hardly be that our ideas when rationalized will not ultimately reappear.

RUBY CANDY—A CHALLENGE

One of the biggest things that happens on the Ursinus campus throughout the whole year is the publication of the Ruby, marking the completion of a work that requires the most tireless energy, a very wisely directed skill, a most painstaking effort, and an almost infinite number of hours of labor. Financially, it is an undertaking of no small magnitude and requires the most judicious business management. From the very beginning of the college career, students look forward with an eager anticipation to the time when they can unite their efforts in the production of a book which will be their contribution to the history of Ursinus. The selection of a staff is a momentous task, but it is only a part of the entire work. The other members of the class have a very necessary function after the editorial and business management have been definitely assigned.

Nor does the responsibility end with the class in question. The whole student body is included in the publication and quite naturally is needed to give the support that will insure success. The whole thing is a matter of give and take. "Help the other fellow and he'll help you." More particularly, support the Ruby of the outgoing class, and the incoming classes will do as much for your Ruby. An excellent standard has been acquired for Ursinus' Year Books, and of course it must be maintained and surpassed to the extent that it might be possible.

One of the outstanding sources of revenue, and one in which the whole college participates actively, is the selling of candy in the halls and dormitories. The extent of these sales increases with each passing year and its value as a means of raising money increases correspondingly. It is possible to take a very careless attitude toward this business and disregard the efforts of those who are striving to make a success of it. Careless habits can easily be adopted, but an awakening to a sense of social obligation would cause them to be abandoned. There are in practice habits even worse than carelessness, which can be corrected by the awakening of a sense of honor and justice.

The whole task is herculean, and cannot be lagging in any one phase. In order to hold to the high standard that has been set, the whole machine must run smoothly, and that resolves itself into a question of every student on the campus realizing and fulfilling his obligation from start to finish.

GAFF FROM THE GRIZZLY

"The Fool" is steadily and certainly being whipped into shape for presentation on Friday night. The poor Fool!

The women's debating teams surely are making an enviable record in intercollegiate forensics this year. Our hats are off to the women when it comes to an argument.

The Daddies say that Maples is a treacherous hall because of the many dangerous curves there.

New slogan—"A dormitory a week." Admission to dance $2—Highway robbery.

It is rumored that McCormick's irrigation system will be used for showers in the new dorms.

Bulb stealing has been prevalent in the men's halls. Would that dirt stealing were in vogue.

It looks as though a certain townsman hasn't gotten over his Nursing days yet.

The town folks say—"What a naughty bunch of students."
The college students say—"What a noozy bunch of neighbors."

Familiar Hall sayings:

Fircroft—"Mother and I are indignant."

Shreiner—"Ha! Ha! Ha! Ha! Ha!"

South—"Come back again."

Maples—"Now you daddies will have to come off the porch."

Olevian—"Who's behind the piano?"

Glenwood—"We have a reception room."

Dog House—"Slums Retreat."

Freeland—"Pergatory."

Derr—"Just a little bit of heaven"

—Where men are men and boys are rugged.

Highland—"Somebody wake Kichline."

Join the mob if you want good seats for the Zwing play.

Five minute prayer meetings for the girls seem to meet about as much approval among the co-eds as mixed couples do among the preceptresses.

BROTHERHOOD OF ST. PAUL

The regular meeting of the Brotherhood of St. Paul was held in Schaff Hall on Thursday, March 24. The devotional services were in charge of Paul Schmoeyer. After the usual business of the evening was transacted the program was taken up. Willard Kratz, delivered a paper on "Conflicts in Ecclesiastical Relations." This paper was very interesting and was enjoyed by all.

Mr. Gardner, with a few introductory remarks, said he secured Prof. W. W. Bancroft to speak to the assemblage.

Prof. Bancroft chose as his text a verse taken from I Corinthians 2:9, "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him."

Prof. Bancroft always has a very appreciative audience to listen to him and Thursday night was no exception. He said we are living in the "same world, same people, but different minds, viewing things differently." The talk was very interesting as well as instructive and gave much food for thought.

Prof. Tower also gave a few interesting remarks. Mr. Kratz told the Brotherhood that he has secured the Rev. Dr. Rufus Jones, who will address the Brotherhood banquet which will probably be held on Monday evening, April 25. There being no further business the meeting was adjourned.

Another excellent text-book in mathematics has been issued by Blackiston's from the pen of Miles A. Keasey, '06, and two of his colleagues in the faculty of the Drexel Institute Evening School. Mr. Keasey is head of the department of Mathematics in the South Philadelphia High School for Boys and head of the department of Mathematics in the Evening School at Drexel. The present volume is a Plane Trigonometry with Tables. A text-book by Professor Keasey issued some time ago was "Mathematical Analysis for Engineers."

The Tower Window

THE ground breaking for the new dormitories to be erected on the west campus took place at four o'clock on Friday afternoon, March 25, 1927. The event was noteworthy in that it differed vastly from the traditional ceremony. There was no gathering of dignified academicians with flowing robes and gorgeous hoods, no dignitaries to step forward and awkwardly upturn each his bit of earth with nickel-plated shovel bedecked with streamers of college colors, no oratory, no singing of the Campus Song, no cheer-leaders with long megaphones, no locomotives for the architect or the contractor by massed groups of students, no crowd of spectators, no reporters.

But there was a procession. It was the march of the power digger. This mighty monarch mounted in his eight-wheeled chariot drawn by three powerful Mack trucks driven in tandem, whose fierce staccato was the only music of the occasion, made his way up the west drive and came to a standstill on the old road between the tennis courts. With the help and guidance of a few workmen he backed off his chariot, squirmed about on his caterpillar tractors and made for the digging. One truck drew off with the empty chariot and the other two rattled into the foundations ready for service.

Then came the breaking of ground. The old giant swung his arm far out to the front and with his great steel claws set for a maximum handful, dug deep, drew in as if closing in on his prize, and swinging about, deftly deposited the same in a near-by truck. This first shovelful was a whole cart load. Now the ceremony was over. From this time forth it was just work. In the hour remaining until quitting time a great hole had been made within the area staked off for building number one.

The first shovelful a cart load! Is there anything prophetic in breaking ground for the "greater Ursinus" in this fashion? You may make your own parade.

ALUMNI NOTES

Please send news about yourself and other alumni to the Alumni Editor. All news greatly appreciated.

Dr. and Mrs. Norman E. McClure announce the birth of a daughter on March 13. Dr. McClure is a member of the class of 1915.

Charles U. Shellenberger, '21, is the City Boys' Work Secretary of the Y. M. C. A., Amsterdam, New York. He is also Associate Camp Director at Camp Agaming, Speculator, N. Y. His hobbies are antiques and fishing.

David Kern, '26, has just completed a most successful season as Coach of the Slatington High School Basketball team. With one regular left from last season he whipped together a team that tied and won the Lehigh Valley League title after ranking about third all season.

Floyd E. Heller, '07, Bethlehem, Pa., president of the Lehigh Valley Alumni Association, spent an hour on the campus Friday last. He announced that arrangements are being made for a dinner by the alumni of his district on the evening of April 22.

The announcement of Schoolmen's Week at the University of Pennsylvania, March 30-April 2, indicates that again the program will be enriched by contributions by Ursinus men. Walter R. Douthett, '12, superintendent of the school of Darby, will speak on "Curriculum Making as a Means of Training Teachers in Service." J. Linwood Eisenberg, '06, principal of the Slippery Rock State Normal School, will discuss the "New Curricula for Normal Schools in Pennsylvania." Mrs. Jessie Benner Dotterer, ex-'09, will present a "Demonstration Lesson of the Cheltenham Plan of Individual Instruction."

HIGH SCHOOL BAZAAR

A very successful bazaar was held by the Collegeville High School for the benefit of the Athletic associations on last Friday afternoon and evening. Because the student body is largely composed of out-of-town members, the athletic departments had not received the backing they needed, so a deficit in the treasury was the result. The best plan to remedy the situation was to give a bazaar, so every one worked to make it a success. A green Schaeffer fountain pen was offered to the one selling the most tickets, and a competition between the classes was held.

The tables displaying foodstuffs, such as jellies, potato salad, home-canned fruits, and sandwiches were very tempting and especially difficult for college students to pass unnoticed. Two long tables in a second room held a miscellany of articles such as lamp shades, handkerchief holders, needlework, and pins.

The bazaar had a lighter side, and a more profitable one, in the sketch presented in the auditorium. Miss Hottenstein and the student members of the orchestra played several introductory numbers, and then the Monthly Society paper was read. It contained an interesting resume of the basketball season for both boys and girls. Society news and announcements of marriages were followed by the popular joke department. The Ursinus Quartette was then announced, and the audience was delighted by the harmony and type of songs sung by Helffrich, McKee, Blum and Jones.

The sketch "Jupiter Jones, Detective" was fully appreciated by the audience. The hero was a young office boy with an uncontrolled imagination and a certificate from a correspondence school for detectives. How his talent for "gun play" not only scared his employer and frightened the stenographer, but finally saved his "boss" from an escaped convict is the humorous theme.

One of the most popular forms of entertainment was held in the cloak-room on the first floor. Here Madame Biondo held sway. Though this was her first appearance in America, she did remarkably well, as the crowded entrance testified, even though she did, as one boy said "Only tell the truth."

Y. W. C. A.

The regular meeting of the Y. W. C. A. was held Wednesday evening. The program began with a short devotional service, which Miss Irene Ackerman, '29, who was in charge of the meeting, led.

The topic of the evening was "Owning and Spending." The leader called attention in the first place to the question "What do we have that belongs to us?" After a brief talk on this Miss Ackerman read a poem entitled "Riches." She also spoke on "Money." This was supplemented by a short poem on "Ownership," by Miss Athena Johnson, '30, Miss Isabelle Houck, '29, and Mary Rule, '29, also read appropriate poems.

An open discussion concluded the meeting. Some of the questions discussed are: "What is true ownership?" "What are our most valuable possessions?" "What should we do with the things that we own?"

Many valuable suggestions and ideas were brought out.

FIRST YEAR TOSSERS WIN

FROSH-SOPH GAME, 33-22

The lowly Frosh again proved their athletic prowess, when they humbled the Sophomores by a 33-22 count in the annual Frosh-Soph basketball game, which was played in the field cage on Tuesday evening, March 22. The game was fast and clean throughout, with the score see-sawing back and forth, the winners not securing a commanding lead until the last five minutes of play, when they unleashed a powerful spurt that put the game on ice.

The losers drew first blood, and soon had a lead of 8-2, with Newcomer and Schink doing most of the scoring. The Yearlings now staged a rally, led by Young, and at half time the score stood at 13-12, in favor of ultimate winners.

The second half found both clubs battling hard for the lead, with little headway made by either aggregation. The end of the third quarter found the second year men enjoying a momentary 20-19 lead.

It was in the last ten minutes of play that the Frosh began to locate the netting with many "peeps," while maintaining a tight defense in their own danger zone. The fact that the losers scored but two points in the last quarter shows how really fine was this defense.

Weidensaul led in the scoring, with a total of six field goals and two free tosses. His eagle eye in the last quarter was largely responsible for the downfall of the Sophomores. Young rifled the strings four times from scrimmage, and twice from the fifteen-foot mark, and played a strong floor game.

Shink was big scorer for the losers, garnering a total of four field and two foul goals. Newcomer played a fast game for the second year men, and collected himself three field goals and a foul, as his share in the evening's pastime.

are making a strong bid for varsity berths.

Covering the initial sack will probably be Tom Clark's duty although Shink promises to give the Darby lad a battle for the honors.

Harry Bigley, last year's second sacker, has not reported as yet but is expected out this week. Bigley was injured in the last basketball game at Delaware and was also sick for several days which prevented him from reporting sooner. Joe Citta represents the yearlings in their struggle to capture the keystone position.

Third base is the undetermined spot in the infield with no veteran to hold down his job. Ted La Clair and "Wes" Evanson are staging a battle royal with the outcome dubious.

At shortstop "Scoop" Hoagey is covering the acreage in his old time manner while George Smith acting as his understudy is showing up well thus far.

In no place does competition rank so keen as the outfield with an abundance of good material presenting itself. Headed by Captain "Toots" Jones the flychasers are a mean aggregation of clubbers and ball hawks. Francis and Loux along with Benner constitute the old hands while among the first year men Young appears head and shoulders above the rest. While no positive statement can be made as yet, it is a good gamble that he will tie down one of the outfield berths.

The hitting strength of the club again should be up to par this year with Jones, Carl, Benner, Bigley, Hoagey and Young in the line-up to furnish the fireworks.

No prediction for a successful season can be truthfully ventured upon until a good moundsman is unearthed. Pitching, as in the case of every ball club has the power to "make or break" the team's chances and as with the Bears it is the factor which will ultimately determine the status of the team.

Rhea Duryea Addresses Girls

After helping her father for three years, doing general office work, she served for three years as a statistician in the Bureau of Research. She is now with a Federal Reserve Bank in Philadelphia. Miss Duryea said that to some the work of tabulation is very monotonous but to her it is fascinating. To watch the trend of prices, to answer the queries of merchants as to the rise and fall of trade, to note, for example that installment buying is on the increase—all this seems to be in the very heart of the business world.

She closed with a warning to college graduates, saying they must prove their worth, their diplomas are not enough. Her address stimulated thought concerning choosing vocations other than teaching. There is a variety of literature available in the Girls' Day Study which should be read by all girls who are undecided as to their future occupations.

Waynesburg and Temple Win Debates marked ability in analyzing the question. Ursinus has a promising debater in young Lefever. Earl Bur-gard, a senior and the third substitute proved that he had done a great deal of work on the question by his extensive knowledge of the subject.

The judges of the contest were Messrs. Nelson Fegley and Thomas Hall, Attorneys-at-Law, Norristown, Pa.

On the same night the Negative team journeyed to Philadelphia to meet Temple's Affirmative, but the failure to appear of the Philadelphia team gave Ursinus the decision by default.

Ursinus Neg. vs. Waynesburg Aff.

On Friday evening the Ursinus negative debating team again proved themselves superior to their opponents when they obtained a judges' decision of 2 to 1 in their favor.

This has been the first time that a Waynesburg college team, which hails from the western part of the state, has met with Ursinus in any field of endeavor. The Waynesburg debaters showed up creditably against the second string men of the negative team.

The question was that much discussed topic of resolving "that the United States should cancel the war debts owed to her by the allied nations." Both teams discussed the economic aspect of the question, and the main points of the affirmative side were: It was a war of democracy against aristocracy. It was our war from the beginning. The European nations lost the flower of their man power and that it will take years for them to reinhabit their country. They showed that cancellation was justifiable, that France and Italy cannot pay, and that the tariff policy is not consistent with cancellation. The negative, upheld by Ursinus contended the "Debts can be paid; that the United States is a lenient creditor; that it can assimilate the payments; and that cancellation was wrong as a matter of principle; and the country owed it to her people not to cancel the debts."

The debaters who upheld the affirmative side for Waynesburg were: Harland Castiel, Leslie Brock, Kenneth Skelton and alternate, Robert S. Stein. The Ursinus negative team consisted of Paul Schmoeyer, Wilbur Clayton, James Poff and alternate, Charles Keller.

The judges who rendered the decision were: Prof. P. C. Steele, of Allentown, Prof. John Ake, principal of High School, Willow Grove, Pa., and Prof. Isenberg, instructor in the Perkiomen School, Pottsville, Pa.

Rev. J. M. S. Isenberg, vice-president of the College, was chairman of the debate.
